

the friends of asian art association presents:

PAKISTAN ANOTHER PERSPECTIVE

Dionne Haroutunian roams the world on her motorcycle to create a web of human connections. She strongly believes that personal relationships have the power to counter fear, prejudice and intolerance. She sees herself as a conduit between cultures, and uses her artwork, writing, public talks and photographs to put faces and stories on far-away places.

“I’m looking for the thread that unites us.”

Join Haroutunian as she shares her Pakistan adventures through days of high desert dirt-riding at “high speed” on the Karakoram Highway to the Chinese border on the “Road of Death” and everywhere in-between.
